In August, Bionic was proud to be represented at Prosthetics & Robotics 2025, a premier industry event bringing together leaders, innovators, and clinicians to shape the future of patient care. Tony Gutierrez, our Director of Clinical Advancement and Innovation, served as moderator for a panel on Integrating Innovation with Clinical Impact in Prosthetics and Robotics. The discussion explored reimagining clinical workflows for CPOs, rapid-fit injection-molded prosthetics, expanding powered prostheses beyond K3 users, and addressing challenges in reimbursement and integration. Tony's leadership highlighted the importance of aligning innovation with meaningful clinical outcomes, underscoring Bionic's ongoing commitment to advancing patient-centered care.
